Work the Roads.

"People are already complaining about the condition of some of the public roads," said Judge Rochester to the PRESS. "Now I am not dictatorial, nor would I say in a commanding way 'do this, or do that,' but I do want to remark to the overseers of the county, that this is the time of year to work the roads, and a proper appreciation of this fact might save some of them from trouble when the bad weather sets in. The overseer who deliberately refuses or fails to work his road during the proper season need not expect leniency from the court, should he come before it for failure to keep his road in order."

W. L. Asher Dead.

Mr. Will L. Asher died at the residence of Mr. A. L. Cruse in this city Saturday, Sept. 22, after an illness extending over several months. Everything possible was done by loving friends to prolong life, but human skill failed to drive away the messenger of death, and the soul of a good man returned to God who gave it.

Mr. Asher was a son of Mr. W. H. Asher, one of the oldest and best known citizens of the county. The deceased was a successful young farmer and a valuable citizen. He was a man of excellent habits and pure character. He leaves a wife and one child. The burial took place at Repton Sunday.

Insane.

Jesse Akers, the 14-year-old daughter of Columbus Akers, was examined before Judge Rochester Monday as to the condition of her mind. She was pronounced insane and marshal Loyd took her to the Hopkinsville Asylum Monday night.

A Charter Member.

Mrs. Becky Ann Holloman is the only charter member of the old Cookseyville church now living. She is past eighty. A number of her friends in the congregation will buy a nice rocking chair for her use when she attends services.

Barn Burned.

On Thursday night of last week a stock barn belonging to Jack Thomas was struck by lightning and burned. Two milk cows, a wagon, and a lot of plows, gearing, etc., were lost in the blaze.

Look for Mrs. Howerton's advertisement in this issue.

The Colored Institute.

The tri-county institute held in Marion last week was a very successful one, though the instructor, Prof. C. C. Monroe, of Owensboro did not arrive until noon of the second day.

The teachers of the three counties were all present except two from Lyon county.

There were 16 teachers from Caldwell county, 6 from Lyon and 9 from Crittenden.

The trend of thought, as generally manifested in the discussions, showed that the teachers are making considerable progress in the science and art of teaching, and that most of them appreciate the vast importance of their work.

The ends sought and the methods used in teaching each of the common school branches were fully discussed by the teachers and by the instructor.

The instructor frequently emphasized the importance of teaching those things which are of practical value to the pupils. In reading he would teach them to read the face of the clock, the calendar, a railroad time table, market reports, the thermometer, etc. In composition he would teach them to write notes, orders, deeds, mortgages, etc. In civil government he would teach them how and why primary elections, and county, district, state and national conventions are held. He would teach the history of the political parties and the fundamental principles of government which gave rise to these parties.

The instructor also placed very much stress on both physical and moral training, and he warned the teachers against the mistake of making book learning more important than the physical and moral development of the child. The teacher is a character builder, and his constant aim should be to make good and useful citizens of his pupils. The state pays him to do this and looks for good citizenship as the product of his labors.

Prof. Monroe endorses Booker T. Washington's theory of education, and regards him as the greatest living negro in America. "What the negro needs as a race is such industrial as well as intellectual training as will fit him for skilled labor. We have too many teachers and preachers and too few farmers, mechanics, etc. If there is such a thing as a negro problem in this country the negro must solve it himself through education, physical, intellectual and moral."

NEWS IN BRIEF.

SOUTHERN GLEANINGS.

Colored Farmer and Bear.

George Crawford, a colored farmer of Panola county, Miss., was troubled by bears breaking into his cornfield, and he determined to lie in wait for bruhn. A few nights ago the bear came, and the farmer took a square shot at him, but did not stop him. He followed the intruder over the fence and to the woods, calling to his sons and their dogs to join in the chase, which they did, but before their arrival George had caught up with the bear, and had a personal difficulty, in which he was slapped over, had an arm broken and was severely bitten and scratched. The chase was continued, however, till the 600-pound bear was killed.

Cotton Consumption.

As the Manufacturers' Record says, no better record of the advance of southern cotton mill interests during the past ten years may be had than the following figures of bales of cotton consumed in comparison with the takings of northern mills:

Crops in Tennessee.

Good local rains over greater portion of Tennessee greatly revived late crops and pastures and facilitated plowing, but in many sections of middle and western divisions rains, if any, were insufficient and drought still prevails, with damaging effect; cotton opening rapidly, picking in full progress; fine crop of tobacco housed; late corn short; large amounts of hay, fodder and peas saved, and sorghum made.

Named in Honor of Bagley.

Mrs. Addie Bagley and Mrs. Josephine Daniels, mother and sister of Ensign Worth Bagley, the hero of Cardenas, and the first American officer to be killed in the Spanish-American war, left Raleigh, N. C., the other day for Bath, Me., to attend the launching of the torpedo boat Bagley, named in honor of the dead ensign. Mrs. Daniels will christen the new boat.

Found Dead.

Ralph D. Ward, 25 years old, was found dead with a bullet through his heart at an early hour in a house on Hernando street, Memphis, Tenn. The theory of the police is that the young man committed suicide. Ward came from Kansas City, and was bookkeeper for a packing house branch.

Kentucky Crops.

In Kentucky tobacco cutting progresses rapidly and greater part of crop is housed in good condition; corn crop safe from frost, much cut; pastures falling; apples poor; plowings delayed by drought, but other work well up.

A Remarkable Feat.

TROOPS ON THE GROUND.

Cov. Stone of Pennsylvania Makes Prompt Response to the Demand for Troops.

THREE THOUSAND NOW ON THE GROUND.

Others are Held Subject to Call at a Moment's Notice, With Special Trains on Sidings to Convey Them—Sunday Quiet Follows Friday's Turbulence.

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—All is quiet in the strike region. The outbreak at Shenandoah late Friday afternoon, followed by the sending of nearly 3,000 troops there, put an effectual stop to rioting and the peace and stillness of Sunday prevails in the entire anthracite field. How long this condition will last is a problem.

A Sobering Effect.

The presence of soldiers in the field has undoubtedly had a sobering effect on the turbulent spirits of those strikers who believe in violence as a means of accomplishing their purpose. In addition to the troops in the field, thousands more in and around Scranton, Wilkesbarre and Philadelphia stand ready to start for the scene of trouble the instant orders are received.

There are signs of wavering in the strikers' ranks, especially in the Scranton region, and it is believed that unless there is an early settlement of the strike, the men will begin returning to work.

ANNIE ROGERS STILL LIVES.

The Little Girl Shot at Shenandoah Is Not Dead.

Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 22.—It develops that only one person, Mike Yuckavage, was killed outright in Friday evening's shooting here. Annie Rogers, the little girl who it was supposed was shot to death, recovered consciousness some hours after the bullet struck her in the back of the neck and is in a fair way of ultimately getting well.

Everything is Quiet.

Following the scenes of turmoil and riot everything is quiet.

The town council appointed over 300 special policemen to serve during the night, and in consequence everything passed off peacefully. No crowds were permitted to congregate on any of the streets after this body of specials were appointed, these being distinguished from other citizens by a red badge with the word "Special" printed thereon.

Arrival of Troops.

The first battalion of the Eighth regiment arrived here about 7:30 a.m., and they were closely followed by a battalion of the Fourth regiment, with Col. O'Neill and his staff. Gen. J. P. S. Hobson, lieutenant-governor of the state, and commander of the third brigade, Pennsylvania national guard, is in command of the troops, and he will distribute the soldiers between Shenandoah, St. Nicholas, Mahanoy City and other points after he has looked over the field.

A Chance For His Life.

Edward Clark, who was shot below the heart, has a chance for life. The bullet has been extracted and he is improving. He had gone into the street to take his children out for a walk and received the wound.

Sheriff Toole's Deputies.

The deputies who were with Sheriff Toole Friday evening and did the shooting were all selected from the best citizens of Shenandoah, and the report that they were the scum of the country is untrue. They were few in number, and if the troops had not arrived it is believed they would have received injuries at the hands of those who participated in the riot.

UNDER WAITING ORDERS.

The Ninth Regiment Ready to Respond to Marching Orders.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 22.—The Ninth regiment, N. G. P., Col. Dougherty commanding, is under marching orders here. Fourteen cars, on a siding near the Lehigh Valley railroad station, are in readiness to carry the troops to any point. The regiment can be mobilized by signals in a few hours. It is not believed, however, that the regiment will be ordered to the Schuylkill region, but will be held in readiness here in case of an outbreak nearer home. Gen. Dougherty does not think it would be good policy to take the Ninth and Thirteenth regiments out of the Luzerne and Lackawanna regions.

MADE A DEEP IMPRESSION.

The Shenandoah Tragedy Has a Sobering Influence.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 22.—The tragedy at Shenandoah has made a deep impression in the Wyoming valley. Groups of idle miners are gathered everywhere discussing the alteration. The more conservative of the strikers deplore the action of the Shenandoah men in inviting an attack from the sheriff. They say if the men had pursued the same course that the miners of this region are doing in keeping away from the mines there would be no occasion for bloodshed. Other miners think the calling out of the militia will strengthen the lines of strikers in the Lehigh and Schuylkill regions.

The operators look upon the affair as the beginning of the end. They say the miners in the Schuylkill and Lehigh districts who want to go to work, but who have been prevented by intimidation, will now flock to the mines, and there will be no difficulty in keeping the collieries in operation.

AT THIS STATE CAPITAL.

Gen. Hobson Reports Everything Quiet at Shenandoah.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 22.—Adjt.-Gen. Stewart received a telegram from in the Schuylkill region and under his Gen. Hobson at 10:30 a.m., from Shenandoah, saying everything was quiet control. He reached Shenandoah at daybreak with six companies of infantry, and reports that he was well received by the populace. Many of the miners called upon him and assured him they would co-operate with him in maintaining order.

Gov. Stone is being kept fully advised of the movement of troops and the situation in the strike region. The governor's troops started from here for Shenandoah at 6 a.m., in company with the two Harrisburg companies of the Eighth regiment

CALL FOR MORE DEPUTIES.

Precautionary Measures Taken by the Sheriff at Hazleton.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 2

SECOND WEEK OF STRIKE.

The Lines of the Strikers in the Anthracite Coal Region Remain Unbroken.

QUIETING EFFECT OF THE MILITARY.

The Best of Order Reported in Every District—Many of the Best Miners Leaving the Wyoming Valley for the Soft Coal Fields of Virginia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 24.—Contrary to the expectation of the mine operators, the lines of strikers remained unbroken, and the second week of the strike in the anthracite field opened with the tie-up of the mines as complete as at any time since the strike began.

Quieting Effect of the Military.

The presence of the soldiers in the field has had a quieting effect on the strikers, and the best of order is reported from every district. There are no great gains or losses on either side, although the Philadelphia & operation in the Schuylkill region than at any previous time.

Demonstrations by Troops.

Demonstrations were made by the troops in various parts of Schuylkill county. The striking mine workers stood by and watched the marching militiamen, but they showed no outward sign of feeling.

Hard Coal Getting Scarcer.

Reports from various parts of the country show that hard coal is getting scarcer and the price is going higher. The Reading company, which practically controls the market now, is shipping less coal than ever.

IN THE WYOMING VALLEY.

No Change in the Situation—The Best Miners Leaving.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 24.—The second week of the mine workers' strike finds no change in the Wyoming valley. All the collieries are idle with the exception of the one at Mocanqua, operated by the West End Coal Co. No attempt was made to resume work at any of the mines.

Didn't Report for Work.

It was expected that there would be trouble at a washery operated by the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Co., at Ashley, but the men who worked there last week did not report. There was a large crowd of idlers in the vicinity and it is probable that the men reported for work they would have been intercepted and driven away.

More Determined than Ever.

Some of the strikers were about Mine No. 5, at South Wilkesbarre, where it was reported, Sunday, work would be resumed, but none of the strikers appeared. At the strike headquarters they report no change in the situation. If anything, the men seem more determined than ever.

Statement by Operators.

The operators issue this statement:

"There is no change in the Wyoming and the Lackawanna districts. The West End Coal Co.'s colliery at Mocanqua is working the same as last week with nearly full force. All the Reading company's mines in the Mahanoy regions south of the mountain are working; five out of twenty collieries north of Broad mountain are in operation. All told, 60 per cent. of the Reading collieries are in operation. In the Shamokin region there is an improvement over last week, and an increased output of coal is looked for."

Miners Leaving for Virginia.

Forty additional deputies left this city to join Sheriff Harvey's force at Hazleton. The sheriff states that he now has a sufficient number of deputies. The best miners continue to leave this section. A large number left at noon for the soft coal fields of Virginia.

THE SHAMOKIN COLLIERIES.

None of the Collieries in the Vicinity at Work.

Shamokin, Pa., Sept. 24.—Notwithstanding the efforts of operators, none of the collieries in this vicinity have resumed work. The miners, as a body, remained away from the collieries, to the surprise of several operators who were confident their mines would be able to start up. Attempts were also made to work collieries between here and Mt. Carmel, but scarcely any miners reported.

The failure of the men to go to work averted trouble. All the collieries were heavily guarded by coal and iron police and special officers.

The strikers scored a victory by inducing ten per cent. of the men in the North Franklin colliery, at Trevorton, to stay at home.

THE LACKAWANNA REGION.

Unchanged Except that the Bellevue Washery is Idle.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 24.—The strike situation in the Lackawanna region is practically unchanged, excepting that the Bellevue washery, which operated nearly all of last week, is idle.

This is a Delaware, Lackawanna & Western operation, and its shutting down is said to be due to a representation to the foremen, who were acting as laborers there, that if they did not quit not one of them could feel assured of retaining his foremanship when the strike was settled.

AT SHENANDOAH.

Promise of Military Protection Failed to Open the Mines.

Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 24.—The promise of protection by the state troops failed to encourage the mine workers of this region who expressed a desire to continue at work, and the strike in this region is more extensive than at any time since the strike was inaugurated. It is stated that not a colliery in the vicinity of this city has resumed operations, owing to the failure of the employees to report for duty.

Messages received from various towns in the region announced that every mine from Moshany City to Ashland, including the latter place, is closed.

Attacked by Strikers.

Senhandoah, Pa., Sept. 24.—Strikers have attacked Preston Colliery No. 3, at Girardville, near here, and Gen. Gobin has been asked for troops.

JOHN CHOMITSKI'S FUNERAL.

The Victim of the Shenandoah Riot Buried with a Big Escort of Miners.

Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 24.—John Chomitski, the Pole who was shot and killed during the riot, last Friday, was buried here. Fully 5,000 mine workers attended the funeral. The procession was headed by the Lithuanian band of this city. As the strikers proceeded toward the late home of the dead man, they passed a battalion of the Fourth regiment returning from patrol duty around the mines. Again as the funeral cortege was on its way to St. Ludwig's Polish Catholic church, a battalion of the Eighth regiment passed. When the mine workers reached the Chomitski home they stood in line, and as the hearse, the only vehicle in the procession, moved to the front, every hat was raised. Each man wore a small piece of crepe pinned to the lapel of his coat. The body was interred in the Polish cemetery.

RYAN'S VISIT TO CHICAGO.

He Says All Talk About Changing His Lines Is Childish and Not Worth Replying To.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Col. Wm. Jennings Bryan arrived in Chicago and was driven at once to the democratic headquarters, where he went into conference with various members of the national democratic committee. Among those at the conference with Col. Bryan were Senator J. K. Jones, Chairman Johnson, Vice-Chairman W. J. Stone and F. D. O'Brien, of Minnesota; D. J. Campbell of Michigan; Ben F. Shively, of Indiana; Congressman Shafroth, of Colorado; Gov. Longino of Mississippi, and James Hamilton Lewis, of Washington.

"I came to Chicago especially to have conference with the committee," said Col. Bryan. "All this talk about my changing my dates at the behest of the committee is childish and not worth replying to. I wanted to talk with the committee now, for the reason that I have three days at my disposal and when I come through on October 4, I will be so rushed that I will have no time for such a purpose."

AN OBNOXIOUS ORDER.

Gold Miners Object to Precautions by Mine Owners to Protect Their Property.

Victor, Col., Sept. 24.—As the result of an obnoxious order, designed by the management to stop the theft of valuable ore, the Stratton Independence gold mine has been closed down. The miners announce that they will not go back while the order remains in force, and the superintendent says the order will not be revoked under any circumstances.

Six other large companies have issued a similar order and signed an agreement with the Independence company to enforce it. The order provides that all workmen must change their clothes, both in going on and off shift, and pass naked before watchmen from one dressing room to another.

The superintendent of Stratton's says that the company has lost $5,000 to $15,000 per month through the peculations of workmen.

ADVANCED MASONRY.

Two Great Masonic Bodies Assembled at Cincinnati in Triennial Session.

Cincinnati, Sept. 24.—Two great Masonic bodies began their triennial sessions here to-day that continue during the week—the general grand chapter and the highest degree of the York rite below that of Knight Templar. These meetings are preliminary to the grand encampment of Knights Templar, at Louisville, next year. All the officers of the grand council were present.

The reports showed a membership of 31,500. There are over 200 delegates here from all parts of the country. The grand chapter meets Tuesday, the two bodies alternating, as most of the visitors are members of both bodies.

Tragedy Over a Woman.

Middleboro, Ky., Sept. 24.—At the Half-Way house, a saloon near the state line, Dock Hoskins shot and fatally wounded Will Mosley, the latter also wounding Hoskins. The men fell out over a woman who, a few weeks ago, stabbed to death another woman on account of jealousy.

They Are Satisfied.

San Jose, Cal., Sept. 24.—The California Cured Fruit association is satisfied with the situation as it stands. Prunes are coming into their warehouses at the rate of about 1,500,000 pounds a day.

THROUGH FOREIGN EYES.

How the United States' Responses Are Viewed in the German and British Capitals.

GERMANY SEES VEILED DIPLOMACY.

More Matter-of-Fact Britain, or that Portion Represented by the Afternoon Press, Predicts a Mischievous Effect at Pekin, that is Much to be Deplored.

Washington, Sept. 24.—As forecasted the replies of the United States to the notes of Germany, Russia and Prince Ching, forwarded Friday, were made public by the state department, Sunday, with a verbatim translation of the inquiries.

Germany's suggestion that the powers should demand the deliverance and carry out the punishment of notorious Chinese leaders of the attacks on the legations, before peace negotiations are entered into, is not received with favor. The United States government will insist upon the punishment of these leaders, but desires that the Chinese government mete it out. It urges the immediate restoration of the imperial government.

The Russian memorandum asking whether our legation is to be withdrawn to Tien-Tsin with our troops and suggesting such a course to the powers is answered by the statement that the United States government will not remove its legation from Pekin. Prince Ching is recognized as a peace envoy.

Prince Ching's request that Minister Conger be empowered to immediately begin peace negotiations is complied with.

It is announced by the state department that with the exception of a strong legion guard the American troops will be rapidly withdrawn from Chinese soil.

The navy department has ordered six vessels to the Asiatic station. Work on the ships in the docks will be rushed, and several ordered to the Pacific station. This action is taken because of the large European squadron forming off China. The probability of a world war is being discussed in Washington, and the navy is being put into condition to protect American interests.

AN INSPIRED TELEGRAM.

How the Answer to Germany is Regarded in Berlin.

Cologne, Sept. 24.—The Kolnische Zeitung publishes an inspired telegram from Berlin in which the Washington government's reply to the German note is characterized as a manifest effort to assist the Chinese government to accept the proposals with regard to the punishment of the leaders in the Chinese trouble. The telegram points out that, though the American reply shows an indulgent disposition, it must not be deduced therefrom that the Washington government thinks the United States trade and missionary interests require less careful protection than those of the other powers, but that the United States government is compelled to be indulgent owing to the unfavorable effect upon the situation in the Philippines caused by the transfer of troops from those islands to China.

As a matter of fact, the telegram adds, a vigorous and exemplary punishment of the guilty counsellors of the Chinese court will be in accord with the interests of both America and missionaries.

For a settlement between the powers and China it makes no difference, however, asserts the telegram, whether America co-operates any further or not. Forces sufficient for all emergencies will remain available to secure the expiation demanded by the civilized world.

LONDON LOOKS DIFFERENTLY.

Afternoon Press Attributes the Response to "Political Exigencies."

London, Sept. 24.—The afternoon newspapers which comment on the American reply to the German note attribute it to "Political exigencies."

The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"It is a shock to find the government at Washington taking up the position that the question of the punishment of the Chinese responsible for the outrage, torture and murder of American citizens should be left to the initiative of the murderers themselves, for it is impossible to doubt that the responsible authors are the imperial authorities."

The Globe says:

"The refusal must have a mischievous effect at Pekin. Much, however, as President McKinley's attitude is to be deplored, it can have no effect on the British government, which, of course, will continue to insist that the punishment of the proved murderers shall be an indispensable condition precedent to the negotiations."

FRANCE'S REPLY TO GERMANY.

It is Not Entirely an Acceptance of Germany's Proposition.

Paris, Sept. 24.—France's reply to Germany's note making the punishment of the instigators of the Chinese troubles a preliminary to peace negotiations is not entirely an acceptance of the proposition. France argues that punishment is necessary, but would negotiate under certain conditions without first punishing the guilty officials.

The foreign office informed a press representative that M. Pichon, the French minister at Pekin will pass the winter at the Chinese capital, in spite of the difficulties of the telegraph service, as Tien-Tsin is considered to be uninhabitable after the sinking of that city.

MET DEATH IN THE STORM.

Loss of Life in the Equinoxial Storm on the Gulf of Georgia, British Columbia.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 24.—Four men, at least, met death in the equinoxial storm that burst over the gulf of Georgia. A fishing boat was seen to capsize just inside the narrows, and its four occupants were thrown into the water. A boat sent to the rescue was also upset, but the men in it were picked up by a tug. The fishermen, however, were not found. Great anxiety is felt for other fishermen who are still out. Several small steamers and scows broke loose from their moorings and were damaged or sunk as they smashed into the wharves.

ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR

Congressman Berry was defeated for renomination in the Sixth district.

It is a little singular, nevertheless true, that neither of the two prominent factors in the fight for governor in 1895, are taking a hand this year. Hardin disappeared last year and Ex-Gov. Bradley is not showing up this year.

Mark Hanna says there are no trusts and Gen. Otis says there is no war in the Philippines, but the shooting and killing continues in the one case, and the prices of commodities used by the people is arbitrarily raised in the other, and the impression prevails that there is a couple of large, healthy lies abroad in this country.

Gen. James B. Weaver, the famous Populist, will make five speeches in Kentucky for Bryan, closing at Paducah Saturday, Oct. 13. It is not probable that he will sup with his old greenback, free silver, Populist friend Ben Keys, who is to go under the log cabin for the sole purpose of vote getting.

If the big trusts and combines are willing, when convinced that McKinley's chances are endangered, to put up thousands of dollars to secure his re-election, what should those out of whom these trusts and combines make their millions of profit do about it? Let the people who are paying increased prices on the articles made and sold by the trusts, do some thinking.

Four years ago Benj. Keys made an effort to convince the Democrats that he was a better Democrat than Wheeler, now he is to run on the Republican ticket. Four years from now, if the Dowdies are fairly popular, and can convince Ben that he can get a few votes for congress, he will be flocking with them. Ben is a mighty man to run for congress, and any old race track will suit him.

Ollie James made a speech at Greenville Monday. [He had a big crowd. Judge Yost and McKenzie Moss, the latter a nominee for congress, refused to go into a joint discussion with the Crittenden giant, and with a brass band endeavored to draw the crowd, but despite the two speakers and their band Ollie began with the larger crowd and had them all by the time he closed.

One of the attorneys for the defense in the Howard case announced that he is satisfied that he shot that killed Gov. Goebel was fired from the Secretary of State's office. This is a concession not heretofore made and should arouse the serious consideration of those who insist upon the innocence of Powers and denounce the court, the jury, the lawyers, the reward commission, and everybody else who insisted upon an investigation of the affair. If your brother, your personal or political friend were assassinated and the man from whose house the bullet was fired was pardoned by a governor whose title was good, much less one whose title had been declared null and void by the constitutional authority of the land before an investigation could be made, what would be your conclusions, and what would be your opinion of that governor? We all have our political prejudices and have faith in our friends, political and otherwise, but let us be honest with ourselves and search our hearts for an answer to this question.

In his speech at Madisonville, congressman Allen called attention to a fact that commands itself to the man who thinks Mr. Yerkes is fairer than anybody else in politics. Mr. Allen said that while Mr. Yerkes is going over the state telling the people that he wants every vote counted as cast, yet that same Yerkes went before the contest committee in congress and asked that committee to throw out the election of Mr. G. G. Gilbert and give the seat to which he had been elected to Geo. Davidson, the contesting candidate. It could be said of the committee that it had not thrown out Gilbert only, however, because the Republicans in congress did not happen to need Mr. Gilbert's seat. Mr. Yerkes and his party were traveling the state over, sending up a cry for civil liberty.

The legislature is still hard at work, trying to formulate an election law that will be eminently satisfactory to the leaders of a combination that spent thousands of dollars to corrupt voters last year, and will spend thousands more this year for the same devilish purpose. It is pleasant to go out of the way to do the thing the other fellow thinks proper, if the "other fellow" will take the same trouble to please us, but when he demands his ideal of fairness in one direction and proceeds to corrupt in another, his demands fall on deaf ears.

The Salem business men lead the Marion business men in a laudable effort to utilize nature's advantages for the building up of a community. Marion would do well to imitate the example set by Salem. Each of the towns has its attractions, and there need be no conflict, but a united effort for each to realize upon nature's endowment, and in thus realizing develop all the country around about.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 25.—Dr. John E. Owen was thrown from his carriage in a runaway Monday afternoon and for a time it was feared he was injured seriously.

HOWARD GUILTY.

Jury Returns a Verdict and Fixes Punishment at Death.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 26.—At 9:30 this morning the jury in the Howard case returned a verdict of guilty, and fixed the punishment at death. As the verdict is being read and afterwards Howard showed little concern.

EX-GOVERNOR BRADLEY,

Will Probably go at Head of the Lexington Law School.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 24.—Ex-Gov. Bradley returned to Lexington last night from New York, where he has been for the past two months on legal business, the nature of which is being kept from the public, for the Kentucky university. He will meet the executive board of the institution Thursday morning and the probabilities are that he will leave at once for St. Louis and Chicago. At any rate he will not participate in the campaign in this state this fall. It is rumored that it is the intention of the officers of the institution to re-establish the famous old Transylvania Law school and that Mr. Bradley is to be the head of it, and that his business in the east has been for the purpose of securing endowments.

Appeals For More Help.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 25.—The general relief committee of this city tonight issued an appeal to the American people thanking them for contributions to the relief fund already in and praying for further assistance in the shape of money contributions which will restore the people to the plane of self-support and self-respect.

Governor Sayers and Clara Barton of the Red Cross society approve the appeal.

No Trusts, Says Hanna.

New York, Sept. 25.—Senator Hanna was asked concerning his recent statement that there are no trusts. He answered:

"I repeat that all the organizations and combinations of capital that were amenable to the law and that had the power to oppress the people have been suppressed and have been dealt with according to law. They do not now exist, and if any did exist they would be dealt with as the law in such matters demands."

Dr. Owen Badly Hurt.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 25.—Dr. John E. Owen was thrown from his carriage in a runaway Monday afternoon and for a time it was feared he was injured seriously.

KEYS NOMINATED.

The convention of Republicans, Populists and bolters, or Brownites, at Paducah Tuesday nominated Benj. Keys for Congress. His name will go under the Republican device.

Gen. Palmer Dead.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 25.—Gen. John M. Palmer, former United States Senator from Illinois, died at his residence in this city at 8 p.m.

His death was caused by heart failure. He was an honorary pall-bearer at Gen. McClellan's funeral last Saturday. Last night Gen. Palmer was on the street viewing the State Fair illuminations until a late hour, apparently well. He was about eighty-three years old.

Gen. Palmer complained early yesterday of a pain in his chest. He slept uneasily last night and about 3 o'clock this morning Mrs. Palmer called a physician, who did not think the General's condition alarming. The General awoke at 7 o'clock this morning, still complaining. He talked to his wife a short time, then fell into a doze and expired soon after.

ONE THOUSAND

Students Attending the Largest School in the South.

The fall session of the Cherry Brothers' schools opened in the magnificent new college building Sept. 4, 1900, with an attendance that is at least twice as large as it was at the beginning of last year, and there is no doubt about the daily attendance reaching one thousand students during the school year.

The new college building is without a doubt the most handsome school structure in the south. Parties desiring to write the Southern Normal School and Bowling Green Business College concerning their education or the education of their children should address H. H. SHOOTING AT A PICNIC.

George Stone and Frank Marshall, colored, got into an argument over a game of dice at the colored picnic at Garvin's Park Saturday afternoon.

Stone fired two shots at Marshall that missed their aim. Marshall shot stone in the left side, the ball breaking the skin. He was taken to police headquarters where Dr. Bryan was called. He removed the bullet and Stone was sent to his home at Marion, Ky. Marshall gave himself up to the police.—Evansville Courier.

Stone was detained in Evansville until Tuesday, when he was discharged and came home, somewhat disfigured but still in the ring.

HELP THEM.

Mr. J. C. Barnett, of Carrsville, was in town Thursday. His three sons were all in the storm belt in Texas, and their homes and all they had were swept away, but they escaped without a scratch. They lost their crops by flood last year, this year they lost everything by storm, and are left penniless and homeless. They and the Crowsells have lots of friends in this section, and it would be a handsome thing for their friends in the two counties to lend a helping hand at this trying time.

A small subscription from a great number of people would doubtless send a ray of sunshine into an hour of gloom and help dispel the hardships that are before these unfortunate ex-fellow citizens.

Dwellers in Mining Camps Have No Other Aim in Life.

True Picture of Life in Cripple Creek—Gambling Is Carried On Openly—A Veritable Inferno In Miniature.

[Special Cripple Creek (Col.) Letter.]
A MINING town or city is called a "camp," whether the population be 500 or 20,000. Cripple Creek has about 20,000 population, and the miners rarely dignify it with the title of "city."

Life in a mining "camp" is both picturesque and real. Here human nature is seen in its every phase—all sorts and conditions of people migrate to a camp to better their ill fortunes. Here may be seen humanity in its lowest stages, and types of the shrewdest of mankind—the speculator and the capitalist who is seeking the advantage of those possessed with less business ability, and who conducts his shady transactions so that he can just escape the state's prison. This business highwayman knows enough of the technicalities of the law to evade its grasp. There is also the legitimate business man, who invests his capital, as elsewhere, and conducts his affairs properly, and is an honor to the "camp." He, however, like most others of a mining camp, is here only temporarily, and takes little interest in affairs other than his own. There are few who have come to stay—all are fortune hunters. Many leave before the camp "plays out," and many others play out before the camp does.

The life of a mining camp, of course, depends upon the mineral to be found within its limits. When the gold and silver mines begin to "peter out" the exodus begins, and those who remain the longest lose what they have accumulated, as is seen in the history of other mining camps, where substantial brick buildings are tenement-monuments of a former prosperity. No one with business sagacity expects a mining camp to last very long, unless it has surrounding natural advantages; and it is a peculiarity of nature that these are seldom found where rich minerals exist. Nature is harsh with its favors, and rarely bestows a variety in any one locality.

Cripple Creek, the richest mining camp in the United States, may, however, prove an exception, and last longer than any other camp in the history of mining. Should the mines become exhausted within the present decade the camp can be turned into a summer resort. The elevation is 10,000 feet, the air pure and bracing, and the mountain scenery is magnificent. Yet, the climate is somewhat soporific, easting a lazy, sleepy spell over a person, which one does not seem to overcome, no matter how long he may tarry here.

Next to the mining industry the strongest hold of the "camp" is the gambling saloons. While the miners could exist without the gamblers, the gambling houses could not exist without the miners. There are about 10,000 miners in the Cripple Creek district. Of this number about 5,000 are "tributary" to the city of Cripple Creek. Each miner receives from two dollars and fifty cents to four dollars a day—eight hours constituting a day's work. The mines are worked by relays, or reliefs, of eight hours each, and the gambling houses are run on the same plan—they never close their doors, nor stop their games. And the mines never close down, except for repairs, and the furnace fires of the mills are ever burning.

The miners average $90 a month each, and more than half of them lose the greater part of their earnings at the gambling tables. Many of them lose all, and then buy provisions for their families at credit prices. Others fail to pay their bills, and this hampers trade. The gambling houses are not only a detriment to the miners, but also to the merchants, because the gambling mania makes collections slow and uncertain. Some of the miners gamble away their checks as soon as received.

In some of the gambling houses is displayed the sign: "Check cashed here." The checks for wages are cashed with faro checks, and the miner loses them before leaving the table. Before entering the gambling den the miner cashes his check at a counter where sits a hawklike fellow, something like a pawnbroker. He knows that the greater part of it will never return—that the miner will perhaps leave empty-handed. These gambling hells are located on the first floors, within easy reach of the passing miner, who sees the game in full blast as he enters a saloon to take his "constitutional," which he thinks is necessary before returning from his work to his needy family. He sees the "cappers" of the game winning stacks of checks and he thinks that he will risk a few dollars and so double his hard-earned wages. He little knows that he is playing against a "brace" game—with all chances to lose and not one to win. The cards are shaved so that they can be stripped into sections. It may be noticed that the dealer always takes the last "shuffle," and it is this "shuffle" that places the cards into the brace position, no matter how long the "outsider" may have shuffled them. The roulette wheel has a hidden spring which the dealer touches and makes either the black or red to win. He swiftly calculates the amount of money placed on the sides and numbers, and touches the spring so as to throw the balance of trade in favor of the game.

There are 42 gambling tables in the city, most of them located in saloons, so as to bring custom into the barrooms, and the reverse. Some of the saloons have three or four tables—a variety of faro, roulette and keno. In some of the low resorts, run for negroes, are "craps" games, for the negro is more at home at that game than any other. The free zone known as "Poverty Gulch" is set apart for the negro element, and it has not its counterpart for wickedness in the United States—the slums of New York and the Chicago "levee" not excepted. The stranger who ventures into "Poverty Gulch" after nightfall is either very ignorant of this "darktown" section, or very imprudent. The gambling tables are assessed ten dollars each per month. There is an "unofficial" official who makes the rounds on the first of each month with a memorandum book, and says to each proprietor: "You are fined ten dollars for running this table last month." The fine is paid, and the gambler permitted to violate the law for another month, or so long as he pays the "fine." The proprietor is not arrested and taken into court; there is no record made of the "fine"; and there are no court proceedings whatever. It is a mere permit to violate a law. Of course, if the gambler does not pay he is arrested, and then the matter becomes of official record. It is about the boldest official recognition of crime and condoning of a felony known in any city. It is a defiance of law—a violation of the oath of office of the officials who sanction it. They claim that the "people" want gambling houses, and that it "helps the town." The business men who suffer thereby say differently. It is held that a mining "camp" must be "wide open," and that gambling cannot be suppressed. The saloons never close—their doors being a mere matter of form. The Sunday closing law never was observed in this "camp."

Everyone does about as he pleases, after the manner of the Israelites during the period when ancient Israel had no king. However, there are not as many intruders here, proportionately, as in most other cities. The reason, perhaps, is that as everyone goes armed and is ready for any emergency, there is not much of a desire among them to try conclusions.

Crimes in this camp run mainly to robberies—both of the highwayman and the eastern type. Secretly at night passes but some desperate men enter a store, saloon, or stop a peddler with "Hands up!" Sometimes they "hold up" a gambling table—about the only way to beat it. These highwaymen are seldom masked. As they do not intend to remain in camp after their "coup," they do not think it necessary. They are seldom pursued—it is very dangerous to hunt robbers in those mountains. The plain robberies are mainly confined to the disreputable dance-houses and wine-rooms, where visiting strangers are drugged and robbed with a facility unsurpassed by the eastern pickpocket. Sometimes the victims are sandbagged and thrown into the streets. In cases where complaints are made, some of the property is restored—generally about 50 per cent. The "mutual friends" must have something for their trouble, and that district is an inferno in miniature.

MORAL SUASION ON A DOG.

How a Minister Easily Overcame the Animosity of a Belligerent Canine.

A clergyman who went up into the country to preach and lived there a considerable time had occasion in his ministrations to drive regularly over a certain road. At a house on that road lived a big bulldog which always came out and attacked him viciously. The minister stood this for a good while, until finally, as he drove past one winter night in a low sleigh, a means of correcting the dog by moral suasion occurred to him. He stopped his horse in the road before the house. The dog rushed out madly, barking and threatening to jump into the sleigh. The minister sat in his sleigh and paid no attention. The dog re-

A neighbor, Mrs. K—, who lives on the Jericho side, in order to help the young man start her housekeeping, as it were, gave him a pullet, which he fed and cared for until it reached maturity and an age when it could be expected, in the natural order of things, to lay its board by contributing an egg occasionally to the family larder. It wasn't that kind of

Then he returned to the doorstep and laid down, apparently utterly crestfallen and disgusted with such a man; and, as he paid no further attention, the minister drove off. After this the minister drove many times past the house, but the dog paid no attention to him, and never seemed to see him at all. He was cured.

She had been feeding on X—'s corn and laying in Mrs. K—'s coop a long time before the fact was discovered. Then she was watched, and day after day she was seen to run over into Jericho, lay an egg, announce the fact in the hen vernacular, and then run back to where she found food and shelter in the Riverpoint henhouse of her owner. This Riverpoint hen will lay for no one but the lady-who-owned-the-hen-that-sat-on-the-egg from which this homing hen was hatched.

This picture gives the result of one day's hunt in a district where the sport is forbidden by law. Measure of Coin.

Money is measured by troy weight, in which 24 grains make a pennyweight, 20 pennyweights one ounce and 12 ounces one pound. The silver dollar weighs 42½ grains, and $1,000, as near as it can be expressed intelligently in print, weighs 71,614 pounds, or a fraction over 71½ pounds. In avoirdupois the same would weigh 59,928, or nearly 59 pounds.

How Mothers may Help their Daughters into Womanhood

Every mother possesses information of vital value to her young daughter. That daughter is a precious legacy, and the responsibility for her future is largely in the hands of the mother. The mysterious change that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman should find the mother on the watch day and night. As she cares for the physical well-being of her daughter, so will the woman be, and her children also.

When the young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming change, and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

The following letters from Miss Good are practical proof of Mrs. Pinkham's efficient advice to young women.

Miss Good asks Mrs. Pinkham for Help.

June 12th, 1890.
DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been very much bothered for some time with monthly periods being irregular. I will tell you all about it, and put myself in your care, for I have heard so much of you. Each month menstruation would become less and less, until it entirely stopped for six months, and now it has stopped again. I have become very nervous and of a very bad color. I am a young girl and have always had to work very hard. I would be very much pleased if you would tell me what to do.—MISS PEARL GOOD, Cor. 29th Avenue and Yesler Way, Seattle, Wash.

The Happy Result.

February 10th, 1900.
DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. It is just simply wonderful the change your medicine has made in me. I feel like another person. My work is now a pleasure to me, while before using your medicine it was a burden. To-day I am a healthy and happy girl. I think if more women would use your Vegetable Compound there would be less suffering in the world. I cannot express the relief I have experienced by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—MISS PEARL GOOD, Cor. 29th Avenue and Yesler Way, Seattle, Wash.

Interesting Facts from the Report of the London Postmaster General.

The annual report of the postmaster general, although not due till parliament reassembles, has been made public by Lord Londonderry. He relates the colossal blunders of the public with great gusto. It is really astonishing that 288,667 packets should be posted unaddressed and still more that 2,767 contained cash, notes postal orders and other paper money. There is another record of carelessness against the public in the fact that the articles found loose in the post have increased by nearly 80 per cent. in the last four years. The craze for cheapness affects even postal covers, to our loss, it would seem. For the fact that

The postmaster general appears to be surprised that 35,445 letters addressed to the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, which were stopped at Cape Town at the outbreak of the war, "were not claimed there by the persons to whom they were intended." There was, no doubt, a difficulty in the way of either Boers or uitlanders sending down to Cape Town for their mail after war had been declared. Many a woman, sick and weary of life, dragged down by weakening drains, painful irregularities, depression, and the hundred and one ailments which affect women only, has found in Pe-ru-na a bright star of hope, which has changed her misery to joy, her suffering to health.

No woman need suffer from the derangements peculiar to her sex, if she will give Pe-ru-na a fair trial.

The majority of weaknesses which make woman's life a burden spring from a simple cause. The mucous membrane which lines the pelvic organs becomes weakened and inflamed owing to strain, cold, overwork, etc. This causes catarrhal congestion, inflammation, painful irregularities, depression of spirits, irritability, weakness and suffering. It shows in the haggard lines of the face, the dull eyes, the sallow complexion and angular form.

For the prompt cure of such ailments try Pe-ru-na. It cures many things. "Cleans the complexion, brightens the eyes, changes thinness to plumpness, and cures pains, aches and drains, because it immediately strikes at the root of such troubles and removes the cause."

"Young man," said the editor to the budding journalist, who brought him a column story which could have been told better in ten lines, "when a man discovers his house is ablaze he doesn't go to the window and tell the passers-by that 'half an hour ago what threatened to be a terrible conflagration broke out in the upper story of the palatial mansion occupied by Mr. Jeremiah Dickens.' He simply rushes to the front and shouts, 'Fire! Be concise, young man!'

What a Mogul Can Do.

That was a remarkable demonstration of what a Mogul can do, that occurred on the New York Central the other day, when engine No. 948, one of the new Moguls, hauled out train No. 11, the Southwestern Limited, made up of two mail cars, five passenger coaches and nine Wagner cars, sixteen cars in all. The total weight of the train was 1,832,000 pounds, or 916 tons, and the length of the train, including the engine, was 1,212 feet, or nearly a quarter of a mile. This engine made the running time of the train between New York and Albany, 143 miles, in three hours and fifteen minutes.

most extinct. Once it was quite abundant in South Africa, but it was ruthlessly slaughtered by the native hunters there until it has become a rare animal there.

A writer to the Field, of London, asserts that giraffes are still to be found in considerable numbers in Angola, Portuguese West Africa, and that it is likely to be many years before these splendid animals are exterminated. The giraffe is known to the Angola natives as ondwe. Its range does not extend in this region beyond the fifteenth degree of south latitude.

It is hoped that these animals may be preserved in their native hair. It would be a grand work for the international organization for the preservation of African big game which was recently formed to exert itself for the preservation of this animal.

WANTED TO TELL HER.

His Circuit Was Disconnected, But Love's Current Was Soon Flowing Smoothly.

"Millie!" The young lineman twirled his hat in his hands in an agitated manner and spoke in a voice that seemed to have a tendency to get away from him, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Millie, the fact is, I—I—there's something I've been wanting to tell you for a long time, but I can't seem to fetch it. When you look at me like that, you know, it breaks me all up. I've been coming here so long that I oughtn't to be afraid to reckon, and you know how it is, maybe you don't, either. I thought you're a little the liveliest wire I ever—I didn't think it would be so hard when I—"

Here he came to a dead stop. "Millie!" he exclaimed, in desperation, "I'm short circuited! I've burned out a fuse!"

"Jerry, are you trying to ask me to marry you?" "Yes!"

"Why, of course I will, you foolish boy!" And love's current flowed unobstructed again, lighting up with its pure radiance the rose-emblazoned pathway that, etc., etc.

The majority of weaknesses which make woman's life a burden spring from a simple cause. The mucous membrane which lines the pelvic organs becomes weakened and inflamed owing to strain, cold, overwork, etc. This causes catarrhal congestion, inflammation, painful irregularities, depression of spirits, irritability, weakness and suffering. It shows in the haggard lines of the face, the dull eyes, the sallow complexion and angular form.

For the prompt cure of such ailments try Pe-ru-na. It cures many things. "Cleans the complexion, brightens the eyes, changes thinness to plumpness, and cures pains, aches and drains, because it immediately strikes at the root of such troubles and removes the cause."

To Be Concise
"Young man," said the editor to the budding journalist, who brought him a column story which could have been told better in ten lines, "when a man discovers his house is ablaze he doesn't go to the window and tell the passers-by that 'half an hour ago what threatened to be a terrible conflagration broke out in the upper story of the palatial mansion occupied by Mr. Jeremiah Dickens.' He simply rushes to the front and shouts, 'Fire! Be concise, young man!'

he has a hard enough time. Every thing that the expectant mother can do to help her child she should do. One of the greatest blessings she can give him is health, but to do this, she must have health herself. She should use every means to improve her physical condition. That Tolu Teachers' Meeting.

During the institute last July the teachers who were to teach in the northwest section of the country agreed among themselves to hold a teachers' meeting at Tolu during the month of October. I hope that purpose has not been given up. If we are true to our profession (and teaching is a profession) we must meet, discuss and act. We must swap ideas. The teacher has been characterized as a progressive creature.

Why this dagger thrust of public opinion? The teacher has created public opinion of himself and work. There must be some remedial course. Three steps in this direction are: 1st. We must know the people better. 2d. The people must know us better; and 3d.

We must become more acquainted with each other. How can these ends be attained? Through teachers' meetings. If we would have people be enthusiastic about our work we must first kindle the blaze by our own enthusiasm. Progress is a star with sufficient light to guide those who desire higher attainments, more thorough work and lasting results.

"In the lexicon of youth there is no such word as fail," and in the span of life there is no stand still. If we would have our work paramount we must make it that ourselves; nobody else will do it for us.

One way to do this is through teachers' meetings, where live questions concerning our profession are discussed. Being interested ourselves others will become interested and a more wholesome public opinion created.

A programme will be out soon announcing this meeting. Those whose names will appear on this programme will be expected to be present and discuss the topic assigned. All others are invited. Prof. Wright being located at Tolu will put forth every effort to make it a success. Lets each of us do our part.

Yours in the work,

W. Hugh Watson.
